We just got back to the room and got our PJs on; perfect timing. We just stuck around the hotel tonight - the day went by way too fast!

Our day is open tomorrow, so anytime that works for you and Maryann will be great. We can eat here too. We're okay with whatever you'd like if it still works for you.

We slept in a bit, had breakfast while it rained, saw a rainbow, sat on the beach and people watched, brought a cookie for the police officer watching the beach (but he left before we could give it to him), I got a free massage, and then we went inside of lunch, I re-read the first 2 chapters of the second Harry Potter book in the library, then we went back outside and I read my own book more (Great Expectations, Charles Dickens), we stood in the water for a minute (it's cold), I got pooped on by a seagull (our signal to go inside), then we sat by the pool and I read more, then we both exercised together on the peloton at the gym, then we went to dinner, played scrabble, and now heading to bed!! It was a full day.
